FOREWORD

Since the days of Marco Polo, man has been intrigued by the fascination of the East. Equally fascinating is the land into which you upon graduation will step, the world of tomorow. It will be strange at first, but you will soon be caught up in the wonder and challenge of it. You will come to know life in the fullest.

In the midst of your new life, stop once in a while and think of your old world. Remember the friends, the wisdom of teachers, the special dances, the big games, and the thousands of other precious memories.

We give you the 1957 ELECTRA as a door through which you can re-enter this old world, the magic land of youth.

Rita,
Loads of luck

Where the vale of old Mount Colfax
Meets the western sky,
Proudly stands our Alma Mater
On her hilltop high.

CHORUS

Flag we love, orange and black,
Float for aye;
Old Springdale, o'er thee;
May thy sons be leal and loyal to thy memory.

When the evening twilight deepens,
And the shadows fall,
Lingers long the golden sunbeam
On the western wall.

Mr. Charles DeVenzio

DEDICATION

The class of 1957 is proud to dedicate its ELECTRA to one of the most beloved teachers in our school, Mr. Charles DeVenzio, popularly known as Coach D. V. All the students think the world of Coach and praise him as a wonderful teacher. His American History classes are always the best because he knows how to hold interest with the right amount of study and fun.

Coach and his family live in a comfortable, stylish house on Moyhend Street in Springdale. He has a charming and lovely wife and three young sons, Charles, Richard and David.

Born in Coraopolis, Pennsylvania in 1921, Coach attended grade school there and was graduated from Coraopolis High School. Geneva College was his next step. A popular student, Mr. DeVenzio was elected vice-president of his class in both his sophomore and junior years. While at Geneva Coach amassed an illustrious basketball record. Sportcasters referred to him as the Coraopolis Flash and Dead-Eye Sharpshooter. Chuck DeVenzio was one of the most skilled basketball players when in 1942 he became the highest scorer in Western Pennsylvania with 240 points for a single season. Without a doubt, the most thrilling event for Coach that year was the night Geneva beat Duquesne in an overtime game which ended 49-45. Geneva has never been able to repeat that performance.

Coach graduated from college in 1947 after an interruption for service in the United States Navy. In pursuit of education he attended Geneva College, Bethany College, Northwestern University, and the University of Pittsburgh. He holds a Bachelor of Science and Master of Education.

In 1948, Coach D. V. came to Springdale and Springdale never knew a greater day. Our basketball team became a top contender in the section. Five times Springdale lost the championship by only one game but Coach never gave up. His comment was, "It just wasn't my time." The baseball team, under his direction, won first place seven times and was W.P.I.A.L. champion in 1954.

It is hard to believe, but Coach D. V. finds time to sponsor the junior class, the Junior-Senior Prom and the sale of peanut brittle by the junior class. He has many interests but his idea of heaven would be sports every day.

It is very evident that we of Springdale High School consider Mr. DeVenzio a swell teacher, a great coach, and a thoroughly wonderful person.

Rita,
A real swell

a very sweet friendly girl.
I'll never forget the time I

Farewell . . .

This year we say farewell to one of the best loved people in our school system. Mrs. Estelle Hendrickson, secretary to the Supervising Principal Mr. Marshall, is retiring.

Mrs. Hendrickson was born in Harmar Township, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mahaffey. Her elementary education was received in Harmar Township, Sharpsburg, and Springdale. Since there was no high school in Springdale, she secured her high school education at Tarentum.

She taught school for two years at Birdville. In 1909 she was married to Mr. John Hendrickson and the young couple set up housekeeping in Springdale. The Hendricksons had four children.

In 1924 Mr. Hendrickson was chosen as secretary to the Springdale Board of Education and secretary to the Supervising Principal. At his death in 1926 Mrs. Hendrickson was elected to fill that position and she has served in that capacity ever since.

During those years she helped and befriended countless people. They all remember her for her kindness, her willingness to help a person in need. She is especially loved by the teachers of our school. "As a teacher in the Springdale School District I was privileged to meet Mrs. Hendrickson. She was always considerate, gracious and sympathetic to all with whom she came in contact. Forgetful of self, she worked tirelessly and conscientiously for the best interests of others. Her influence and guidance have been an inspiration for many who cherish the memory of this staunch and loyal friend."—Amelia Cooper Forester.

At the time the Allegheny Valley Jointure was formed, Mrs. Hendrickson was elected as secretary of the Joint Board and as secretary to the Supervising Principal.

Mrs. Hendrickson has many fine qualities but her most outstanding one is forgetfulness of self. She never thinks of herself first but did her best for the other person. Elfreda Kunkle Jack is one of the many people who can attest to this fact. "I know Mrs. Hendrickson as a wise and understanding friend. She is never too busy to offer kind words, sympathetic notes or interesting conversation. She is a person who can never be forgotten."

She made no effort to impress people with her worth. She didn't have to. It shone 'round her. Mr. Charles E. Williams likens her to the lamplighter in a story once told to him. "I could never see the old lamplighter as he went about lighting the lamps because it was dark at the base of the lamp post, but I knew where he'd been by the row of lights he left behind him."

Mrs. Hendrickson's friends will be glad to know that we will not completely lose her. She will remain as secretary of the Springdale School Board.

The words of Supervising Principal Marshall hold our wish for the future of Mrs. Hendrickson. "I am certain that all who have known her through her years of service will remember her for her many kindnesses. We wish that she will greatly enjoy her retirement."

Four separate boards of education compose the Allegheny Valley Joint Schools board of education, one from each of the four consolidated school districts, Harmar Township, Cheswick, Springdale, and Springdale Township.

The board has various tasks to perform and numerous problems to solve at their monthly meetings. A full schedule faces them every year with such matters as finances, maintenance of school buildings, retarded children, transportation for students, athletics, supplies, and teaching staffs.

The board of education is a group of progressive and responsible individuals. They performed their varied duties with efficiency and a thoroughly unselfish attitude. To say thank you is hardly enough. However, the class of 1957 wants each and every member to know that it gratefully appreciated their conscientious service.

In Memory

of a

Classmate Who Has Departed

A tiny leaf from the tree of life
Has fallen by the wayside there
While we continue on our way
Through this troubled world.
Who sees the tear we stop to shed?
Who cares what sorrows we must bear?
What do they know of this thing we hide
With our laughs . . . our smiles . . . our talk?
What do they know of the emptiness inside?
How could they know . . . should they care?
For she was ours . . . .

SENIOR CLASS

No year can quite compare with the last year of high school. We seniors certainly can verify that fact.

Before we had a chance to protest, there we were—deeply absorbed in our studies with English extra-credit looking us in the eye. In any spare time, there was always the senior obligation to meet. Around March first, the chant going around the halls was, "I stayed up all night to finish my senior theme."

Make no mistake, it wasn't all grind. Who can ever forget the marvelous senior class play, "Gown of Glory," superbly directed by Mrs. Hendrickson and Miss Sober, the fun of ELECTRA distribution, the gala class party, and the memorable Junior-Senior Prom? Yes, when the work was finished, we did have good times.

The grand finale of the year was, of course, graduation. All eyes centered upon us as we accepted our all-important diplomas. It was a fine year. We learned, we laughed, and we finally made the grade.

JUNIOR CLASS

Experienced veterans of one year of high school, the juniors mixed work and pleasure as they moved closer toward graduation. The students worked unceasingly under the direction of the class sponsors, Miss Sober and Mr. DeVenzio, to make a success of such events as the Junior-Senior Prom and the class play. The year through, everyone did his part to make the junior year at Springdale High School a memorable one.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Dubiously looked upon at first by the juniors and seniors, the sophomores were quick to become adjusted to life at Springdale High. After first day organization, the sophomore class settled down to a schedule of work and both extra-curricular and class activities. They were proud and happy to join the ranks at S.H.S. Throughout the year, they worked in perfect harmony with their apt sponsor, Mr. Landy, making every project successful.

ADVERTISING COMMITTEE

An editor's work is never done—and didn't Barb and Connie soon realize that. Their hours of hard work could not be counted. Consequently they exercised precise supervision over every facet of the yearbook organization.

Early in the year, the advertising committee began their campaign. Nobody was safe from their super-sales "know-how." As a result, their motto became a reality, "A yearbook for every student."

Dependable and deft fingers manipulated the keys of the typewriters. All the pages of the yearbook were carefully and accurately copied by them. With neatness and efficiency the typing committee worked, intent on finishing the job.

LITERARY COMMITTEE

A. Dunmyre, J. Sleppy, S. Kushner, S. Couch, V. Sowal, P. Killian, V. Podhurcak, J. Spinelli

A tremendous task was handed to the literary committee at the start of the year. True to form, these clever girls came through with pleasing descriptions for all the seniors and interesting comments for every one of the activities.

The business committee certainly knew its business. The yearbook finances were always kept up to par and in perfect order. They collected the money and spent it well.

The sports committee never missed a play throughout the year. These boys, naturally interested in athletics, reported every contest in vivid detail, accenting all the significant facts.

Art plays a major role in yearbook publication. Therefore, it was necessary to employ a dependable and talented artist. Although limited by time, the art editor contributed wonderful work to the annual.

Row 3—G. Graham, W. Ferguson, A. Raymond, G. Castelli, R. Spolar, J. Smalara, D. Ocvirk, F. Gladowski, L. Galcik, M. Blades, B. Cincala

STUDENT COUNCIL

Following the example set by its predecessors, the Student Council worked unfailingly to improve its services to the student body. With the assistance of their counselor, Mrs. Hendrickson, the members related the problems, needs, and wishes of the students to the proper authority. This group was responsible for many school events, including the Snowball, after-game dances, improved assemblies, and the flower fund.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society members were chosen for their merits in scholarship, service, leadership and character. Of prime importance on their schedule last year was the solemn and impressive induction of new members who were registered with the National headquarters. The students in the N.H.S. were always striving to uphold their demanding standards, and were encouraged by their helpful sponsor, Mr. Sinclair.

CAMERA CLUB

As the saying goes, "Photographs bring back pleasant memories." This is especially true if the pictures are well taken.

Photography is a pastime that students enjoy working with. The Camera Club functioned to help its members gain a more thorough knowledge of better picture techniques and to further interests in this field. An expert himself, Mr. Williams imparted a lifetime hobby to the enthusiasts of this organization.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club was a new organization at S.H.S. last year. Nevertheless, it rapidly gained eager members who were interested in the fabulous game of royalty. Chess matches became a common and wholesome recreation at lunch time. The students enjoyed the brain-stimulating contests and quickly mastered many moves from Mr. Sinclair, their learned sponsor.

Springdale's Tri-Hi-Y's were a combination of co-operation, fidelity, and high standards brought about by the excellent characters of all the members.

The first formal, the Harvest Moon, was sponsored by the senior club. A pink and silver room with a ceiling of stars gave the evening a dreamy air.

The junior club sponsored Cupid's Caper. The tables were turned and the girls played host to the boys for the evening. Without the help of the able sponsors, Mrs. Bukovac, Mrs. Baker and Miss Sober, such successes would not have been experienced.

The end of the school term brought a certain satisfaction to every member, each knowing she had done her part to build a better Christian.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC PEP CLUB

G.A.P.C. provided a healthy outlet for the high spirits of the feminine contingent at Springdale High. The girls took pride in the athletic skills they learned and competed with zest for championships.

Under the guiding influence of their sponsor, Miss Nitsche, members improved their abilities in varied sports. Meetings were held on Thursday nights, after which the contests began. To add sparkle and imagination, teams were named after lipsticks and candy bars.

At the year's end, a memorable banquet was held, and awards were given to the progressive and hard-working members.

ORIOLE

This year Mrs. Woolcutt supervised a complete revision of the newspaper which greatly improved its quality. Every publication was a masterpiece of clockwork organization. Under the fine direction of editor Linda Couch, the staff experienced the trials and tribulations of professional reporters. Because of the great work of the staff, students were treated with a consistently top quality newspaper.

CHORAL GROUPS

Music can be the soother of all cares. Every student who belonged to a choir at Springdale High School realized this fact. From their music studies they derived a satisfying and thorough knowledge of the voice.

The third period mixed choir gave many excellent performances throughout the year. The reason for the successes was a common feeling of co-operation and the appreciation of music. The choir members worked well together. The choir's appearances included: The Allegheny Valley Choral Festival, Christmas program and the Spring Festival.

The Girls' Ensemble is an experienced group of select voices. In their own sparetime these twelve girls practiced until they perfected a large repertoire of songs. Obviously, the members of the ensemble enjoyed music and found a special incentive to sing. They performed for numerous community groups and actively competed in the forensic league.

The vocal department was enlarged this year by the new second period mixed choir. Most of the members were underclassmen, in choir for the first time. This group worked toward a high-set goal and really felt the rewards of its accomplishments. The choir participated in the Christmas program, Spring Festival, and a fine Minstrel Show.

Although smaller than usual, girls' choir was as good as always. The members worked especially hard for a better and larger sound quality. After hours of tiring practice, they presented the public with an exceptionally fine Christmas program and Spring Festival.

To Miss Svedberg, choir director, a huge "Thank you" is extended. Her superior guidance was a great asset to the choral department.

MARCHING BAND

The Springdale High School Band's entertaining appearance at each home football game was accepted with hearty cheers. The band made a fine showing with precision footwork and excellent music. We could expect no less under the leadership of Mr. Wareham and Mr. Stroehecker.

Band camp at Blue Knob State Park was a highlight of the band's year. Other exciting events included the Miners' Day parade, an appearance on Band Day at Kennywood Park, Springdale's Centennial parade, and the traditional Memorial Day parade.

Members of the band worked hard to raise money for band camp and senior awards. The year of fun and activity was closed with a banquet.

MAJORETTES

Retain your seats at halftime to view one of the fine performances of the Springdale High School majorettes.

Head majorette Judy Pyle worked tirelessly to make each routine original and enjoyable. The girls practiced just as tirelessly to make sure the shows were performed perfectly. After that came individual work to improve twirling skill for our majorettes have a reputation as the best baton twirlers in the valley.

The corps felt the rewards of the work when each appearance was received with cheers and aplause.

CONCERT BAND

Springdale High School concert band has come into its own. After years of hard work, Mr. Wareham has finally realized his dream of having a concert band equal to any in the valley.

Band members set two main goals and by working ceaselessly, achieved them. They won an excellent rating at forensic league competition and held their very own concert. This concert, with Mr. James Dunlop of the Penn State Blue Band as guest conductor, was the first of its kind in our school's history.

It was quite a year. But the band members aren't satisfied.

PEP BAND

In the past, the entire band performed at Springdale's home basketball games. However, this year saw the inauguration of a new arrangement. Because rehearsal for the half time entertainment took valuable time that could have been used for concert music Mr. Wareham formed the pep band. This group of students practiced after hours to learn the many numbers used. The practice seemed to pay off, for the group was well received. Judging from audience reaction, the pep band is here to stay.

COLOR GUARDS

At all band appearances the school banner and colors were proudly displayed by our color guards. We all felt a wonderful sense of Americanism and a wonderful sense of Springdaleism as the flags passed in review. The girls took their duties seriously and always made sure their appearance was perfect. Their smart uniforms and immaculate gloves gave them a crisp, military air. To identify themselves, the girls purchased jackets on which were written the words, Springdale Color Guard. These jackets were one more evidence of the pride the color guards had in belonging to the Springdale High School band.

CHEERLEADERS

The Varsity Cheerleaders were seven great girls who really had spirit. In the cold of winter they cheered the football team to victory. By the same token, the cheerleaders weathered every humid gym in basketball season. Surely, no group worked as hard as they to evoke school spirit. Their well-planned pep meetings gave hint to the hours they spent in thought of a sports victory. New cheers and perfectly co-ordinated actions were a common sight at all our athletic events. Wherever they went, the cheerleaders gave a magnificent performance and made S.H.S. proud of their loyalty and appearance. All the cheerleaders and their energetic sponsor, Miss Nitsche, and Diane Golian, head cheerleader, were considered the best ever.

It was a pleasure to watch the precise movements of the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. They exhibited their exceptional skills at every performance. The J. V.'s practiced long and hard, aptly guided by their leader, Dolores Gonzalez. At all home basketball games the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders presented a trim and lively picture.

MAY DAY

The highlight of the year was the annual festival of May Day which is held by tradition on the first Friday in May.

Long, tiring hours of work by the very talented Miss Nitsche and the student body resulted in a magnificent display of vivid color and rhythm.

The lavishly decorated gym was like a fairy castle as the royal couples with their attendants proudly took their honored places on the flower-bedecked stage. The strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" added to the splendor and excitement of the event.

Hushed silence fell upon the audience as the retiring King and Queen, David Lewis and Linda Couch, placed the crowns on the bowed heads of Judy Trebac and George Castelli. It was the most beautiful scene of all and quite a few tears of happiness were shed.

The gorgeous pastel and white gowns like whiffs of smoke mingled with the radiant faces and dazzling lights to form a breath-taking and memorable scene.

AND CAME THE SPRING is the brightly humorous story of the Hartmans, a pleasantly typical American family, who enjoy a reasonable amount of peace and quiet until Spring enters the scene. On the first day of Spring vacation, Midge, the youngest, finds herself surprisingly in the throes of first love. When she decides to manage lives and emotions for her own ends, the hectic and hilarious complications into which she plunges the family almost prove disastrous.

GOWN OF GLORY is the story of David Lyall, a minister in a small Western Pennsylvania town, and his family. The Lyalls were simple folks who enjoyed the natural gifts of life. For the welfare of the parish, they gladly sacrificed common conveniences and luxuries. The Lyalls were a friend to everyone, and everyone was their friend. They never became famous or rich, but they were great. The story of how the Lyalls attained their "Gown of Glory" is a touching epitome of the strength of charity.

From the kick-off to the very last play, every football game was one of thrill-packed maneuvers. Under the experienced direction of Mr. Hazlett, head coach, the boys were well prepared both in playing skill and sportsmanship to meet other valley teams. The clashing Dynamos made a favorable showing of iron will against all opponents, and closed the season with a respectable 5-5 record.

Everyone at S.H.S. was proud when Gary Graham was voted the most valuable player in the section, and Stan Wagle received honorable mention. Throughout the year, the team worked hard together to make necessary and valuable improvements that made a great difference on the gridiron.

A new sport was launched in Dynamo land last year. Usually when a difficult game like soccer is first introduced, it takes years to develop a winning squad. The team must be built, the skills learned, and the experience acquired. However, under the wise instruction of Coach Lenosky the boys mastered the game with little difficulty and became worthy opponents for any high school team. Soccer was so well received that we are sure it will be a lasting sport at Springdale High School.

We're eagerly awaiting our first soccer championship.

BASKETBALL

As always, Springdale's basketball team was one of the champion contenders. Both the Varsity and the Junior Varsity teams and their head men, Coach D. V. and Coach Turley, set a fast pace throughout the season with long, hard practices and perfected plays.

To add to the glory of our Alma Mater, Larry Galcik was chosen the most valuable player in the section. Larry well deserved this honor because he was a league leader all season exhibiting split-second timing and perfect shooting.

The fans roared in the galleries every time the fighting Dynamos chalked up another victorious win. Everyone felt the spirit and determination of the team. Next year, the same group of players look forward to an even greater season and many victories.

Good Luck for the coming season.

Nothing can quite compare with an exciting baseball game. The pitcher winds up, releases, the ball is struck—another home run! How simple it sounds, but how much practice it requires. If practice makes perfect, our baseball team must have been almost there. Coach D. V. and his boys set their goal early in the season. They practiced long, worked hard, and, as a result, enjoyed many wins. It is supposed that a feeling of oneness gave the baseball squad their success. Perhaps they did not take first place in the section, but at S.H.S. the baseball team was tops.

GOLF

D. Ocvirk, F. Coprivnicar

The golf team has steadily improved with the years. It has now become a firmly established institution in our school. The game requires a good eye, body control and much patience. To say the least, our golf team demonstrated all these qualities, strengthening their will for good, fair play and sportsmanship. If the team continues to improve at the same rate as in the past, we should be seeing some golfing trophies soon. Coach Wagner was proud of his boys. He always made sure they had the best possible instruction and they made sure they tried their best to win.

We were certainly lucky to have the services of Bill Kravenko who came in thirteenth in the state finals. Bill is a fine golfer and will go far in this field.

SENIOR FAREWELL

Dear Friends:

Graduation is a solemn and important event in our lives. We look forward to it with joy, yet deep inside our hearts are heavy. School days are the golden days of youth and freedom. We know we can never relive them, but still we want to capture every happy moment to cherish through the years.

For each of us a door stands open. We have only to cross the threshold to shape our future. Perhaps we hesitate a slight bit in awe. No, we are not afraid, just cautious. We will take our place in the world because now we are men and women. We will walk away from our Alma Mater; we will leave the familiar classrooms, the noisy halls, and all our faithful teachers and loyal underclassmen. Some of us may even venture to the far corners of the world. But come what may, a small part of each of us will always remain here in Springdale High School. Long after we are gone, our laughter will still be impounded in the walls; our joys, our sorrows will still be locked within the foundations of this very building.

As our paths begin to diverge, we realize how much we have derived thus far. We are among the privileged to have been given the opportunities of a priceless education and of an equal opportunity. Now we are prepared to enlarge and enrich the future.

A fond farewell to all our friends at Springdale High School. From now on we will walk with God.

The Senior Class of 1957

Rita,
Your a real swell pal. Your a real nut to be with. Remember all of the crazy times we had in (Old lady Saber's class?) this a real loony one isn't she? Remember our Home Ec classes at the 7th period & all of the other good times we had. I hope it continues through the future years. Good Luck
Ever

OUR GRATITUDE

Our sincere appreciation is extended to every one of the dependable, patient, and industrious individuals who helped with the 1957 ELECTRA. We wish to say a special thanks to Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Williams, our sponsors, and to the junior editors, Frank Coprivnicar and Robert Somerville, all of whom have volunteered their time and effort to make this yearbook a success. We are equally grateful for the faithful support of our efficient committees. Our deepest gratitude must be paid to Clifford McCalmont. Without his generous and wonderful art work, this publication could never have been completed. "Thank you very much" to Colao's Studio for the superb photography, Joe DeOrio, Jr. of Canton Engraving for his co-operation, Ralph Benz of the S. K. Smith Company for his aid, the Valley Daily News and the Daily Dispatch for their ready help. A big, big "Thank you" goes to the faculty for their guidance and understanding throughout the year.
